The defendant-I shall presently argue, your Worship, that the two articles Mr. Mackean has read are not libellous, and I shall ask you to renest Mr. Mackean and his olient to noist out the libel. I think it is a most unusual thing to set up two articles comprising nearly three columns of a newspaper as a libel. It is impossible to answer such a thing, and I should say it is unprecedented in the squals of justice. I am prepared to meet the case, and it is immaterial to me whether you sent it to the Supreme Court or not. In fact I had thought at one time that the best thing I could do would be to go there, and give Mr. Bandwanu as much law se he/wants. His Worship-I will tell you the position I am in, before you proceed any further with the cross-examination. The prosecution is proceeding under Section 5 of 6 and 7 Victoria for a malicions libel, and by that ordinance I am not entitled to go into the merits of the case beyond deciding whetheror nota libel has been committed by the articles which are brought before me, Having read the articles, I am of opinion that whether taken as a whole, orwhether particular exprossions are referred to they are libellous on the face of them, and therefore I shall not dismiss the case to-day, but shall refer it to the Supreme Court. Any cross-examination you choose to put to the complainant in the way of justifiontion, or to prove the truth of the statements made in the articles—as for as I am concerned with this case to-day -- are irrelevant. They are relevant enough at a proper trial, but they are, fever heat in consequence. Bendmann asked as far as I am concerned, beside the mark. It is not likely that the commerce between Brazil and China will ever be very considerable, unless it grows up with the introduction of a Chinese population in the great South American Empire. The treaty was negotiated, of course, with the avowed object of promoting the emigration of Chinese labourers to Brazil, and it now remains to be seen whother it will have the effect desired by the Brazilian planters. We hope it may, but the experience of other States that have entered into emigration -conventions with China is not very encouraging. The Chinese Government are right in endeavouring to obtain guarantees for the good treatment of their subjects, and no one can blame them for placing obstacles in the way of emigration to countries where there were grounds for thinking the emigrants would be badly treated-There is, in the case of Brazil, every reason to believe that Chinese labourers would be fairly treated there and liberally paid, Brazilian Government is a wise and libera one, the laws are equitably administered, the demand for labour is very large, and the resources of the country vast and undeof race prejudices being developed there, or of appressive enactments being passed an immediate and large supply of labour is that the treaty has been ratified, in taking advantage of its provisions. COAL BY WIRE: The proposal of Sir Henry Bessemer to production of motive power, it must not be each calls upon the peasant to follow him, forgetten that Sir William Thompson has clearly shown that by the use of dynamoelectric machines, worked by the Halls of Ningura; motive power could be generated to Russian people will go to sleep, wavering an almost unlimited extent, and that no less between the two impulses which are endeathan 26,250 horse-power, so obtained could be conveyed to a distance of 300 miles by not more than 20 per ceut, and hence delivering at the other end of the wire 21,000 horse-power. Sir Henry exclaims, "What a magnificent vista of legitimate mercantile enterprise this simple fact opens up for our connect London with one of our nearest coalfields by means of a copper rod of one inch in diameter, and capable of transmitting 84,000 horse-power to London, and thus practically bring up the coal by wire instead of by rail?" He supplies the equivalent in coal of this amount of motive power. Assuming that each horse-power can be generated by the consumption of 3lb. of coal per hour, and that the ongines work six days and a-balf per week, we should require an consumption of coal equal to 1.012,600 tons to produce such a result. Now, all this coal would, in the case assumed, be burned at the hit's mouth at a cost of 6s. per ton for large and 2s. per ton for small coal-that is, at less than one-fourth the cost of coal in London. This would immensely reduce the cost of electric light, and of the motive power to be wished for is greater finish in the ennow used in London for such a vast variety of purposes, and at the same time save us from the enormous volumes of smoke and foul gases which this million of toas of coal would make if burned in our midst. A 1-inch copper red would cost about £538 per mile, and if laid to a colliery 120 miles away, the interest at a per ceut on its first cost would be less than I perton on the coal practically conveyed by it direct into the house of the consumer. From what we have quoted, i will be seen that the proposal of Henry Bessemer is deserving of the most serious
